Stepping Stone of an Entrepreneur

Suresh, a visually challenged entrepreneur who lost his eyesight in an accident 13 years ago was determined to start an enterprise. He was supported by his wife to sell tea and snacks during evening break at IIT biotechnology department. He had a flourishing small-scale business for 10 years until the pandemic lockdown shut the institution and Suresh's entry into the campus was restricted due to the new normal situation. He was in a fix as he was unable to run the family, pay house rent and lead a decent living with his frugal savings. He sought help and reached out to members of Lit the light family to support him financially or with a job to earn his living. The members of Lit the light family contributed to set up a tea shop near Chennai OMR Perungudi toll gate and restart his long-term business.

Currently the shop is picking up business and Suresh is back on track with confidence and happiness. His consistent endeavor to run a business, saving for the rainy days and support from family led him to revive his business. Lit the light team feels proud to stand beside the hard-working entrepreneur during difficult times and encourages youngsters to join the team to serve the society. We are thankful to all our donors and volunteers who have contributed to set up this tea shop. We request all our supporters to visit his shop near Perungudi Toll gate, Chennai and motivate such dedicated specially-abled persons.
