What are features/mechanics you discovered in AVNs you didn't know you needed?

Things you found in an AVN that is a must or can't live without anymore! Quality of life features like naming save files, to customizing your text box(yes I mentioned that in my last post cuz it greatly effects my experience) I wanted to make a post highlighting a devs insight and creativity on features they put in their games to solve issues or comfort that not other devs have made.

For me, the great use of animation transitions and sound effects in Eternum are a cut above the rest and really boost my immersion of the story that I didn't know I needed! Let me and others know what features you guys found that you love and wished could be implemented in other games.

u/NamiEntusiast

For me the saving renders feature on Race of life is a really good mechanic that I have only seen in that game yet, I can just save the renders that I like the most and browse them whenever I want.

u/Historical-Heron-595

Something that re-oriens you, summarizes where you were with each character, what big decisions you've made, and what you're trying to do next. Yeah, named save files are nice. But if I'm going to be popping back into the world of an AVN for a few hours after 6-12 months to try out the latest update, there's a 90% chance that I haven't the faintest clue what was going on. Save file naming helps, but the names usually aren't long enough to fit more than LI + asshole/nice.

u/Slight-Gear-2844

Emotionally unstable girls make my PP go brrrrr
Pale carnations perks or I guess it would be more like traits that you pick from in the beginning mostly because I'm a huge rpg fan.

u/No-Thanks-3601

Text box opacity options, sometimes it ruins the view and other times it's hard to read text without it.

u/Exact-Ease566

Gimme Goth Girls!
This might not be everyone's cup of tea, so maybe a toggle option? Was playing Our Red String and never noticed how used to going back on choices I was. In that game you can't go back after making a choice unless you load a save. What makes this good and not annoying is; the story will change to fit your choices and follow through. The ability to go back always makes me think of the 'optimal' way to play and not necessarily the best experience.

u/TrevorIsTheGOAT

Sucker for wholesomeness
I really like Eternum's heart indicator thing - rather than going and checking "points" before making a choice and trying to see which one makes a difference or using a walkthrough, just make it immediately evident. Clicking through menus to check stats before and after dialogue choices takes me out of the game.

u/Inevitable-Ad6776

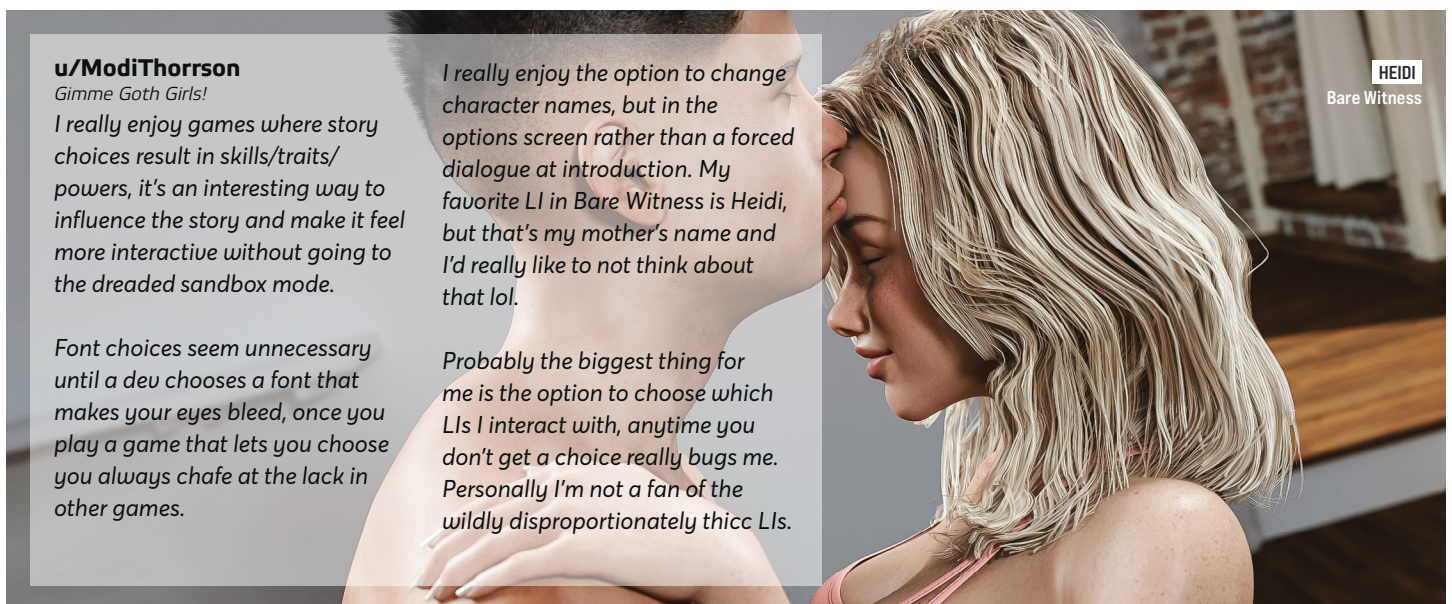

I play for the story
What I love that I think most games should incorporate is the function in BaDIK where middle mouse is the phone button. It makes life easier and I think it just works better.

u/Major-Cobbler-6046

Emotionally unstable girls make my PP go brrrrr
Being able to adjust or even change the font. I've dropped so many games due to their stupid fonts, most recently Leaving DNA where the font is outrageously big. It just looked so out of place that I really struggled to get immersed into the story.

u/Quantum_Ntangement

I discovered a new way of skipping dont know for how long it has existed but when you have the skip button at the bottom and you right click it you can literally skip to the next choice instantly.

u/ModiThorrson

Gimme Goth Girls!
I really enjoy games where story choices result in skills/traits/powers, it's an interesting way to influence the story and make it feel more interactive without going to the dreaded sandbox mode.

Font choices seem unnecessary until a dev chooses a font that makes your eyes bleed, once you play a game that lets you choose you always chafe at the lack in other games.

I really enjoy the option to change character names, but in the options screen rather than a forced dialogue at introduction. My favorite LI in Bare Witness is Heidi, but that's my mother's name and I'd really like to not think about that lol.

Probably the biggest thing for me is the option to choose which LIs I interact with, anytime you don't get a choice really bugs me. Personally I'm not a fan of the wildly disproportionately thicc LIs.

HEIDI Bare Witness

u/Lurip

Step Sister Supporter

Dumb decisions that let you fuck around and find out. One example in WSIGTH by recreation you can annoy the person that picks you up from the train station so much that she kicks you out of the car and the game ends with you getting smushed by another car. Most games that have an obvious troll choice often just roll back to the selection of the two choices after you pick the troll choice. I love it when there is an actual funny consequence to it.

u/Dessolos

I play for the story

Quick save and quick load. Some games opt to disable this feature boggles my mind, doesn't stop me from reloading just makes it more a pain in the ass.

Obviously control / tab skipping since it allows you to play all paths in non harem games easily and quickly.

Naming Page files while this is pretty standard I have seen 1 or 2 games where you cant. I'm not a big fan of naming the saves if playing more than 1 path as sometimes it will use the last save name and not the one you loaded and can be annoying to retype it if you save often.

Replay / Gallery not all games have this but some times it fun to replay scenes on a AVN I really like. Certain games like Hillside ill have page files just to replay certain scenes incase I ever feel like going back.

If all AVNs were banned tomorrow and you could only allow one to be completed, which would you choose?

Being a Dik is my favorite game but it's got a lot of material already so I actually wouldn't choose it. My choice would be Hillside. I can't wait to see how Charlotte and the MC's relationship continues.

u/SadLittleSquonk

DAZ Defender

Being A DIK because i want to know how it ends. It's all I've really got.

u/Outlaw_tK

I will preach the gospel of Summer Heat to the ends of the earth and gladly die on that hill any day.

u/DanielAlves1904

It's between Eternum, Desert Stalker, City of Broken Dreams and Being a Dik.

u/kintsukiiii

Eternum definitely!! I also love BaD a lot but agree with what you said, I could live without finishing it, but when it comes to Eternum it always leaves me wanting more.

u/Outrageous_Main_2816

Summer's Gone! It'll be the absolute best AVN by the time it's finished, issue is.... it'll be finished in like 20 years.

u/vheize

Summers Gone, also if you like WIAB Summers Gone should be your pick since they share the same universe, 2 games in one..... big brained.

u/13SKRRT

Choke me harder, Mommy

If AVNs get banned, I'm hunting the fucker who pushed it through down & do some real terrible shit to that person. Asshole gonna force me to go outside & touch some grass.. smh

To answer your question, I'll go with STWA: Unbroken

u/ZenMyst

Ass Apprentice

Succubus Covenant. It's a succubus game where you get raped when you lose, that's appear to be it on the Surface.

But there are 4 love interest that you have a loving relationship with without the raping from either party. Still no scene though, they are just in your party helping you

There are many side characters, male and female other than the MC and they have their own story. The plot thickens with the many different politics, secret organisation around. The incubus are not those that just fuck around, they are gods that want to watch the world fight because they are bored.

There are angels, demons, elves, dwarves and it seems to be well thought out and not the usual kind.

They hype up the outer relics and I want to see them in action. Even if you play without losing(which I did), the plot feels like a fantasy novel that involves many fantasy races. The MC isn't OP sex god, he's "normal". I wanna see how it ends.

u/WhyEvenBother66

The only correct answer would be Summer's gone. It's literally the only game that I don't expect to be finished within the next decade lmao. 30+ chapters is a really long time.

u/CatSniffer_69

Eternum because it actually has a story that affects more than just the MC's dick.

u/Greywarden194

Broken Bird Syndrome

Summer's Gone

Now, let me cook. Summer's Gone universe is infinite, the game will never be finished. So picking Summer's Gone = Unlimited contents.

u/Dessolos

I play for the story

This is a tough one for me.

Leaving DNA has the best story to me personally so I'd love to see the end of that storyline.

Nephilim has the best AVN couple I have witness and has a fun story to boot so that be another one to consider.

Then Hillside is literally in my top 3 because of the romance with Charlotte so I'd want to see that cause it's so good even if it's super slow.

But Summer's Gone has apparently something like 30 chapters planned and, from what I've seen I love all the character except for Vanessa and Robin nothing can get me to forgive her.

I would go with Hillside but considering I'd be replaying this game all the time I'd have to go with Nephilim since Eliza is my favorite AVN couple, + I love the setting the game takes place in.

Discussion

What AVN has the biggest discrepancy between story quality and LI quality, and vice versa?

Just finished playing through the current version of City of Broken Dreamers, and I don't think I've ever played an AVN that had such a strong story with relatively weak LIs. I mean the LIs are decent, I love Katie. But they're certainly below average quality for a game of CoBD's overall caliber.

CoBD is pretty frequently placed in "AVNs you HAVE to play" lists, and I'd be pretty confident saying it has the weakest cast of LIs in most of those lists. But the story is so well-written that it doesn't really bother me, I still loved it.

In the other direction (strong LIs, weak story), I feel like the kinda obvious answer is Leap of Faith. Cece is probably the most popular LI in all of AVNs, and I really enjoyed Lexi's route too. But on a macro level, the story is kinda nonsensical. The CIA employs a literal highschooler to spy on some guy, she dates him, and after she dumps him a massively successful pop star invites him and all his friends to a 2-week vacation at her private house on a whim?

But just like CoBD, I don't end up noticing it much - because the LIs are so high quality. What about you? What are your picks?

VENUS
City of Broken Dreamers

RED MOON
City of Broken Dreamers

u/lu98ke

Lust epidemic, treasure of nadia.

Stories are quite interesting, treasure of nadia is very entertaining, but there is so much sex, 12 girls, different personalities but they want to have sex with you for no apparent reason.

For someone who is looking for lewd scene it's perfect, but I can't stand it too much.

u/PM_ME_SANSA_NUDES

Step Sister Supporter

Agreed on CoBD - imho the best quality AVN overall with amazing cinematography, soundtrack, general design - but other than Ellen, the LIs did very little for me (Ellen is absolute top tier tho to make up for it).

The other way round - AOA Academy. Amazing girls (tbh I was so in love with Sung-Ji that I barely remember anything about the others, but I feel like they were in generally pretty good), but kinda lame story.

u/Exact-Ease566

Gimme Goth Girls!

I keep bringing it up but Fetish Locator has amazing LIs, fleshed out, interesting and great variety in models and kinks... but the story takes a nosedive in S2 and outright jumps the shark in S3. It feels the original plan was just have this cool sex app in a college and then they slapped on a conspiracy theory they read on discord or something.

u/Greywarden194

Broken Bird Syndrome

It's been a while since I played that game, but I don't feel like CoBD LIs are weak at all. From what I remember, all of the LIs are well written (compared to most AVN LIs), maybe because the main plot is compelling that the characters kinda drowns a bit. But that doesn't mean they're weakened because of that. Another point is maybe because the MC is kinda distant(iirc), so it's rare to have those intimate moment with the LI.

u/soundgfx

Visual Novel Stan

I feel like this discrepancy is most common on college let's be frank here; badik style slice of life uns. they're more character driven than anything else with a touch of power fantasy and wish fulfillment.

u/LHDLLB

I do really love CoBD, is a really solid story and the characters are great even though I agree that much of the LI does little for me, I like Gloria and the Victoria enough but they do fall short of great for me, still great charecter bouth just find lacking a bit as LIs, stragelly Chandra, Abby and the ex wife - sorry forgot her name - is the ones that I find most interesting and I dont thing they are LI, at least not Abby, my favorite. Desert Stalker also comes to mind, I really like the worldbuilding that it has and the story has high points, the lewds are one of the bests that I have seen but I dont really like any LI, I dont dislike none either and maybe this is the problem ? is not that they are the same, is just that, I dont know, aside from maybe Shani and the Queen the others don't have much place in the story beside being there to get fucked, though it is a work in progress and this may change and has hints that it may just be so. Leaving DNA, not that it has anything wrong with its LI, I do like almost all of them but the story is so good that I would read even if was just a book. ZeroEnd also has a really great story, but so far none of the LIs has really caught my attention that are some promissing ones but just that. Corporate Culture is a odd one, the story is great but is a character driven story so there is not much plot as it serves only as a acessorie to the characters journey but the work of the charecters is a great one more than enough to compensate the "weak" plot and Elsa is just perfect.

u/dirtydandoogan1

Chivalrous Pervert

Honestly, Bare Witness. I love it, it's one of my most favorite games. But the overall plot is kinda thin and rarely makes an appearance, while the LI arcs are deep and dominant.

u/Jacowboy

Well COBD is considered a must play because of the ultra high overall quality (and the fact it's nearly completed), but yeah, the game def. doesn't really focus on the relationships... it IS an example of a story-focused AVN, but maybe it could've used less LIs with more character development...

u/fyrefox45

Harem Hunter

Mythos is even more mismatched than codb in story to sex scenes. Not a single scene in that thing feels right, but I'm still interested in the story. Only decently developed girl in the entire thing is dead.

Mist is a pretty bad offender too. Nearly no character development, but at least the scenes are good and the story kinda makes it worth it.

I feel like summer heat is headed in the other direction. The story so far is completely nonsense, but friends sis, goth girl and redhead might be able to carry it.

u/Successful-Gift-6467

I love the game and it's one of my all-time favorites but I have to agree about Leap of Faith. Cece has influence throughout the entire story. If we were to remove her, the game certainly wouldn't be so well spoken as it is.

AVN TERMINOLOGY

u/captaincopperbeard Contributor

As more people come to the hobby, it might be helpful to have a list of terms used by players and developers when talking about AVNs. I'm including a handful here, but if you think there are definitions that should be added please mention them in the comments. If you think a definition doesn't quite hit the mark let me know and we can get it amended.

DAZ

Short for Daz Studio, a 3D visual content program developed by Daz Productions. Commonly used to create visuals for AVNs. Generally considered more photorealistic than the visuals created through Honey Select or Koikatsu.

FREE ROAM

Areas within a game where the player may move through different rooms, interact with different characters, search for items or clues, or engage in a number of story-driven activities. More limited in scope and area than sandbox.

GRIND

Typically associated with sandbox games, where a player must engage in repeated activities or conversations in order to unlock further gameplay or story.

HAREM

A style of AVN where the MC may openly pursue all love interests at once without creating conflict between those love interests.

HS/HS2

Stands for Honey Select/Honey Select 2, a pair of eroge video games developed by Illusion. Commonly used to create visuals for AVNs. Notable for being stylistically more Japanese in appearance.

H-SCENES

A common term for sex scenes in adult games.

ITCH

Short for Itch.io, a hosting site for indie game developers. Used by many AVN developers, especially those that cannot be hosted on Steam due to copyright issues.

JOIPLAY

An emulator used to run games on Android devices. Often used for AVNs that don't have an Android version available for download.

KINETIC NOVEL

Like a visual novel, but without meaningful choices and no way for the player to affect the story or its endings.

KOI/KK

Stands for Koikatsu, an eroge video game developed by Illusion. Commonly used to create visuals for AVNs. Notable for being stylistically more anime in appearance.

LANDLORD/LANLADY

AVN code words for father/mother. Typically used to avoid anti-incest rules on sites like Patreon.

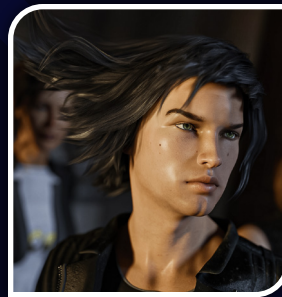

LEWDS

Slang for sex scenes in adult games.

LI

Stands for love interest, any character that the main character can have a romantic arc with.

MC

Stands for main character, the protagonist of the story.

MG

Stands for main girl, a primary love interest in the story, usually involved in the main story and the game's potential endings.

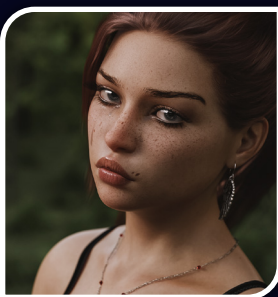

NTR

Derived from the Japanese word netorare, generally used to mean that a love interest in an adult game engages in sexual or intimate behavior with a character other than the MC.

REN'PY

Pronounced "ren-pie." A game engine based on the Python programming language, developed by PyTom and specifically created for visual novels. Most AVNs run on Ren'Py.

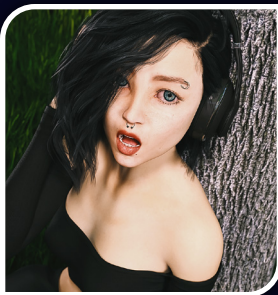

ROOMMATE

AVN code word for brother/sister. Typically used to avoid anti-incest rules on sites like Patreon.

SANDBOX

A style of game wherein players may visit locations, engage in activities, or interact with characters in whatever order they like.

SG

Stands for side girl or secondary girl, a love interest that typically doesn't have a story focus or potential ending.

TSUNDERE

A term borrowed from anime, refers to a love interest who starts out cold or hostile to the main character, and is won over as the game progresses.

UNITY

A cross-platform game engine developed by Unity Technologies. Used for some AVNs.

VISUAL NOVEL

A format of video game including primarily still images and text, wherein a player makes choices that can affect the story and outcome.

YANDERE

A term borrowed from anime, refers to a love interest who starts out loving and caring to the main character, and begins to exhibit signs of jealousy, obsessiveness, and potentially insanity as the game progresses.
