About

Born and raised in Panama, Carolina Jaen has developed a great passion for visual arts and in particular for painting inspired by her career as an architect and interior designer. Very visible in her works are all the characteristics of a vast visual language linked to a harmonious palette of colors and natural forms.

Inside the her works, there are all the different characteristics that relate to the many factors that can determine a visual space.

These contrasting factors offer an infinite reference in forms of refractions, vegetation and post-modern architecture.

Statement

My research is based on the observation of the refractions of light, in particular those on the surface of the water, the change of direction and the waves that create and generate a hypnotic effect.

I am interested in exploring layers, their distortions and contrasts, that continuous transformation of forms that become a metaphor for the constant changes that we live by growing, evolving and therefore redefining ourselves.
