PROFILE

Kristicevich uses natural materials in her eco-installations to create an interplay between space and the viewer. She approaches her intuitive art-making process with an ephemeral philosophy, playing with the interconnection of nostalgic objects and textures that evoke a sense of place. Adopting a "leave no trace" approach when creating her eco-installations, Kristicevich is interested in the visual impact and creative imprint she can leave with the viewer. The process of collecting natural materials and the geographical location of the objects are very important to Kristicevich and play an integral part in her work.
