Remapping the Field of Art- Hartford Art School Junior Painting Studio Mural
Harrison Library University of Hartford, CT 06117

This Mural was made to represent a diverse range of artists connected by a single line against a design based on the maps of the school's campus. This mural honors under-recognized artists who made significant contributions to the field of art. This project also boosted my confidence because it allowed me to express my ideas openly, and be comfortable working within a group.

Teaching experience:

The atelier at Flowerfield experience included working as a TA for painting and drawing classes for ages of 9-12.
