

Children Marching

By: Tiffany Pennywell

Can you see the children marching

Their voices raised loud in unison

Asking for someone to see them

To hear their pleas

To just see them as human

And nothing lesser

For someone to understand

That their voice

Their thoughts

Are relevant

They are wanting someone

To not disregard them

So, do not only look at them

Hear them

And remember when you were younger

That this was your plea too

