

Genre of (6), The Flags

The stars and stripes of the American Flag have been stylized and colored by various artists to express their point of view.

So, noticing the stripes of the flag and the border surrounding the field of stars are vertical and horizontal lines, and the stars themselves icons, and that my genre of (6) is the art of storytelling where vertical lines, horizontal lines, and icons tell a six-word story,

I decided to do two (6)'s of the flag, one imaginary and one real, in juxtaposition, to express my point of view...

THE DREAM FLAG

“PERFECT STRIPES. PERFECT STARS.
PERFECT COUNTRY.”

laser cut plastic over a print on plastic manufactured, fabricated, and assembled

by
Chuck Gray

THE ACTUAL FLAG

“BATTERED STRIPES. BURNED STARS.
MY COUNTRY!”

house paint on laser cut plywood over acrylic and crackle paste on watercolor paper, hammered, blowtorched, and saluted

by
Captain Charles D. (Chuck) Gray, Jr
USAF/Retired