Hustle and Stumble

Humpty Dumpty made a big plan,
Swore he'd be the strongest man.
Woke up early, ran real fast,
Tripped on a dream—fell on his past.

All the doubters laughed out loud,
"Stay down, Humpty! Join the crowd!"
But Humpty Dumpty shook off fear,
Wiped his tears and stood up clear.

Step by step, he climbed again,
Bruised and battered—but still locked in.
Life will trip you, make you fall,
But rise up stronger—that's the call.
