Professional Summary

While learning the basics of painting, my instructor also taught me the importance of being environmentally conscious. He would save odds and ends to make art. Leaving a big impression on this then-seven-year-old boy. With a love for history, whether in antiques, fine art, or architecture, my passion is in transforming wood with historical value into art. Today, I do what I call "UpCycled Functional Art." When viewing art, we see a story, and history can be found in these stories. When you see my art, I want you to see and feel the history that is the story of my art.
