Greeting and Blessing:

After the long interval, I was pleased to receive your letter, and to read in it that you have married a fine Jewish girl who is strictly observant as far as her personal conduct is concerned, and no doubt also in so far as the whole conduct of the home is concerned.

On the question of a sideline, generally speaking, it is a good idea, especially as one can see from your letter that it would give you a personal satisfaction to make use of the qualities and capacities with which you have been endowed.

I trust that you have regular appointed times for the study of both Nigleh and Chassidus, and that you are participating in the activities of the Lubavitch House in a growing measure.

Enclosed is a recently published message which I trust both you and your wife will find interesting and useful.

With blessing,

By Avraham Nudel
