Blessing and Greeting:

I received your letter with the report. I believe I wrote to you before that it is better to receive two reports about the same events, rather than none, especially as, where there is a repetition of this kind, there usually is also some supplementary information or details, all of which is of great interest.

Your letter with the check was duly received.

With reference to your moving into your new home, surely a blessing by telegram is just as valid as by letter. In any case, I gladly reiterate my good wishes that your moving into your new home be in a happy and auspicious hour, and that you enjoy it in good health, together with your husband and children.

I trust that you will continue to write periodically, with not too long intervals in between.

Hoping to hear good news from you,

With blessing,

By Avram Sussel
