

E. K. Tiefenbrun

P. S. The despatch of the letter having been delayed, I have in the meantime just received your letter of 9th of Sivan.

With regard to the portrait, changes should be considered only if they do not entail much trouble and expense, etc. For there is the well known principle of our Sages to the effect that the Torah desires to spare Jewish money. There is, of course, no need to be aggravated, G-d forbid.
