Greeting and Blessing:

I was duly informed about your wife's accident, and I remembered her in prayer. I trust that by now she is well on the road to recovery.

It was good to hear at the same time that your appearance at the Yeshiva Torah festival in Worcester was highly successful and contributed so much to the success of the event. May G-d grant that for many many years to come you should continue your good work with the cooperation and encouragement of your wife, as in the past, and that all your affairs should be permeated with joy and gladness of heart.

Having just observed the 50th anniversary of the Chag HaGeulo of my saintly father-in-law on the 12-13th of Tammuz, the history and significance of which you surely know, one of the basic lessons of this historic event is that when a Jew is firmly determined to spread G-d's Torah and Mitzvoth, he, or she, receives help from On High to overcome all difficulties and to triumph over all obstacles. And although who can compare to the stature of the Baal HaGeulo, everyone has the advantage of the fact that he has paved the way, and he has also declared that every Jew, man and woman, has a share in his experience of the Geulo, and that it is within reach of everyone following in his footsteps to accomplish a great deal, far beyond one's expectations.

With blessing

M. Schneerson
