

Aavin Revives Milk Vending Machines

Aavin is reintroducing automatic milk vending machines to reduce plastic waste, following Madras High Court directions.

Aavin's initiative to bring back automatic milk vending machines, which were discontinued 12 years ago, as a measure to tackle plastic pollution.

KEY EXAM POINTS

- Aavin is reintroducing its automatic milk vending machines.
- This revival comes 12 years after the machines were initially shut down.
- The primary objective is to reduce plastic waste in Tamil Nadu.
- The initiative follows specific directions issued by the Madras High Court.
- This decades-old system is being repurposed to address a modern environmental challenge.

STATICS & SYLLABUS FOCUS

Aavin is the brand name of the Tamil Nadu Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation Limited.

The Tamil Nadu Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation Limited was established in 1981.

Aavin operates under the administrative control of the Tamil Nadu Dairy Development Department.

The Madras High Court is one of the three chartered High Courts established in India in 1862.

Plastic Waste Management Rules were notified by the Union Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change in 2016.

The Environment (Protection) Act, 1986, provides for the protection and improvement of the environment.

REVISION FLASHCARD

Aavin revives milk vending machines to reduce plastic waste per Madras High Court directions.

Syllabus Relevance: High

Daily Current Affairs

Read the most important daily exam-relevant news summaries easily on ESSAAR.

Read Online: essaaracademy.in/ca