

Hightower™

Arlo Seating Collection

The task of constructing a comfortable environment can take many shapes. Whether you're looking to create privacy, quiet, or simply a cozy place to take a seat, the Arlo Collection has the answer and will contribute to the overall happiness of your space.

Get Comfortable

You work hard...you deserve a soft place to land. The casual and residential design of the Arlo will bring all the comforts of home with all the benefits of contract quality design. Soft-yet-supportive cushions and cozy back pillows will make it easy to get comfortable, and hard to leave.

Available in 3 sizes as well as a lowback and highback version.

Privacy Please

When you need to escape the buzz of the open office, take a seat in the Arlo Highback to create your own oasis. The high sides and back provide spatial division and privacy while the sound-absorbing upholstery makes for a perfect place for some focused work or to take a call (or a nap...we won't tell).

Right at Home

Comfort wrinkles are intentionally included in the cushions to give a cozy vibe, while the rounded wood legs bring the warmth and character of home into a commercial space. Create an inviting lounge setting by arranging multiple Arlo models together.

Part of the Crew

Hightower Studio products have been designed to complement one another, making your life easier. The powder coat finish on Arlo pairs back to multiple other models in the collection, all of which contribute to the comfortable and welcoming environment we all seek.
