

637 Inwood Lane

Dear Future Homeowner,

It's hard to put into words what this home has meant to our family, because it has held so many chapters of our lives. This is where our children grew up — where height marks were penciled onto their bedroom walls, where backpacks were dropped by the front door after school and after soccer practice, where birthdays and holidays were celebrated, and where endless family gatherings were held.

The kitchen has always been the heart of this home — filled with homework, game nights, and family dinners. The living spaces have been places of togetherness: movie nights piled on the couch, rainy-day board games, and holiday gatherings where the house felt full in every possible way.

When the kids were little, we loved watching them play in the backyard and make friends with the neighbors. When they were learning how to ride their bikes, Brentwood Drive was a great, flat and quiet street to use to teach them. As the children entered their teen years, the basement provided a great additional space to host sleepovers, small get togethers or simply an extra hangout zone for them and their friends.

Leaving is bittersweet, but it brings comfort to imagine another family building their story here — celebrating milestones, finding comfort after long days, and creating new traditions, new memories. We hope this home gives you peace, joy, and the feeling that you're exactly where you're meant to be.

We are grateful for the years we've had here, and we pass it on with full hearts.

All the best,

The Goldstein-Eibschutz Family
