

JW Assist Privacy Policy

JW Assist helps you to retrieve, hear and view information from JW.org. It is not used for any commercial purposes.

What information do you collect?

You interact with our application by speaking or typing commands to JW Assist. These commands are used by the application to retrieve the information you request and may be stored (as text only, your voice is not recorded) to improve our understanding of commands used.

How do you use the information?

Any stored commands will only be used to improve our understanding of the commands used and the functionality of the application. These commands are not traceable back to any user.

What information do you share?

No information will be shared with any third parties.