Kata Kata is an authentic African cartoon magazine with both online and printed versions. Humorously, Kata Kata tries to discuss and sensitize typical African / global socio-political issues using cartoons. At the same time, it equally offers a maxim that life is perhaps not all about seriousness; one needs some laughs and relaxation to face serious challenges in life. The duality of Kata Kata is such that it, on the one hand, discusses serious issues and at the same time, it offers therapy for the problems through laughter.

In an educational, informative and yet humorous way, Kata Kata creates awareness of social problems through the dissemination of information and finds solutions to them. This important information can be sent across in many major languages (English, French, Spanish, Portuguese) as well as / or different African languages, to reach the grass-root audiences.

The quarterly printed edition of Kata Kata is widely available in the Netherlands and some European countries. Equally, the magazine can be read or borrowed from different libraries globally, including the prestigious Stanford University Library, USA, Federal Library Den Haag, (the Netherlands), University of Leiden Library -African Studies (Netherlands), University of Iowa (Main Library), USA, Southern Africa Library, Basel, Switzerland etc.

Likewise, the digital version of Kata Kata can also be read online or subscribed to via Kata Kata website or Magzter, the world's largest digital newsstand with more than 20 million readers.

Publisher's note:

No Prostrate to Prostate in Kata Kata Village.

Understanding men's health — particularly prostate health — has never been more critical, yet it remains an area clouded by stigma, silence, and in many communities, misunderstanding. The title "No Prostrate to Prostate in Kata Kata Village" captures a reality that stretches far beyond one village: the confusion, neglect, and cultural discomfort surrounding the prostate gland.

The prostate, a small walnut-sized organ located just below the bladder, plays a crucial role in the male reproductive system by producing seminal fluid that supports and protects sperm. Despite its size, the prostate can create significant health challenges when inflamed, enlarged, or affected by cancer. Conditions such as Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH), prostatitis, and prostate cancer are among the most common issues men face as they age — yet these conditions are often ignored until symptoms become disruptive or frightening. Please do not risk dying in silence.

This publication is a crucial tool in breaking the silence about prostate health. It's not just about urinary difficulties such as weak or intermittent urine flow, pain during urination, frequent nighttime visits to the bathroom, or the unsettling presence of blood in urine or semen. These are not simply signs of ageing — they are warning signals that should prompt medical attention. Too often, these symptoms are dismissed or hidden due to embarrassment, cultural beliefs, or lack of information. But with this publication, we can change that. Yes, we can!

Our primary goal is to demystify the prostate and encourage early intervention. From lifestyle adjustments and medications to minimally invasive procedures and, when necessary, surgery or cancer therapies, a wide range of treatments exists. Most importantly, early detection through regular screening can save lives and prevent years of discomfort or serious illness. This is not the time to wait; it is time to act.

In bringing this topic to communities like Kata Kata Village, we aim to empower men and their families with knowledge. Knowledge is power. A healthier conversation leads to healthier decisions — and a brighter, healthier future. This note is not merely about a gland; it is about dignity, awareness, and proactive care. Let this publication serve as a reminder that taking charge of one's health is not a sign of weakness but a profound act of strength. There is power in action, and it can lead to a brighter, healthier future for all.

Remember, you are not alone in this journey. Support and care are available to you.

Till next year, please take good care of your health and one another.

Happy festive season and a healthy 2026.

Yours in Kata Kata,

Ogo Ubabukoh
