Dr. Dilip Bhattacharyea was born in April 1955. In 1979 he became a qualified homoeopathic physician. He started learning psychiatry in a hospital at Kolkata under the guidance of a psychiatrist Dr. Uday Chowdhury. Diving into the world of homoeopathy with the knowledge of psychiatry helped him in rediscovering homoeopathy through a different spectacle. He incorporated what he has learned so far in his book "Homoeopathy Through the Spectacles of Psychiatry," He made a remarkable achievement in blending homoeopathy and psychiatry. This work challenges conventional measures for psychiatric cases, for a deeper understanding of mental health, and promoting the effectiveness of homoeopathy in the field of psychiatry.

KEY STRENGTHS OF THE BOOK

1. Dr. Dilip Bhattacharyea integrates concepts of psychiatry with the principles of homoeopathy in this book.

2. Case-based illustrations: The book contains case studies, which show effectiveness of homoeopathic remedies in psychiatric conditions.

3. This book shows the limitations of conventional psychiatry and emphasizes the potential of homoeopathy in handling mental health issues.
