Zadanie 4. (0–4)

Przeczytaj tekst. Dobierz właściwy nagłówek (A–F) do każdej części tekstu (4.1.–4.4.).
Wpisz odpowiednią literę w każdą kratkę.

Uwaga: dwa nagłówki zostały podane dodatkowo i nie pasują do żadnej części tekstu.

- A. CHECK THE SOURCE
- B. WATCH OUT FOR FAKE PHOTOS
- C. CLICK ON LINKS WHICH LOOK AUTHENTIC
- D. LOOK FOR THE STORY IN OTHER PLACES
- E. WHERE DO FAKE STORIES COME FROM
- F. USE WEBSITES OF BIG NEWS ORGANISATIONS ONLY

FAKE NEWS

4.1.
------	--

Every time you're online, you are bombarded by pictures, articles, links and videos trying to tell their story. Unfortunately, not all of these stories are true. Sometimes the authors only want you to see a certain advert on a given site, other times they want to upset you. These stories circulate quickly, and the result is...fake news.

4.2.

Look at the website where the story comes from. Does it look authentic? Are there a variety of other stories or is it just one story? Fake news websites often use addresses that sound like real newspapers, but don't have many true stories about other topics. If you aren't sure, click on the "About" page and look for a clear description of the organisation.

4.3.
------	--

Many fake news stories use images that have been modified or taken from an unrelated site. Sometimes, if you just look closely at an image, you can see if it has been changed. You can also use a tool like Google Reverse Image search. It will show you if the same image has been used in other contexts.

4.4.

Make sure the story you are reading is on other news sites that you know and trust. If you do find it on many other sites, then it probably isn't fake (although there are some exceptions), as many big news organisations try to check their sources before they publish a story.

Tekst 1.

When I moved into my new flat I hated the boring white walls. However, I did not have much money, so I found some cheap DIY ways to brighten up my room. I printed out my favourite photos and made a collage out of them. I also asked my friends to send me funny postcards. This is not only a fun way to stay in touch but it's also a free way to customise a plain wall. I also found lots of amazing materials outside. For example, I went to the beach and collected shells to decorate my windowsill. Finally, I visited my local charity shop. There are many great bargains in charity shops, such as cheap cushions and blankets, so you can make your room homely in no time.

Hi Meena,

Here's everything I won't have time to tell you on Saturday morning.

The alarm code is 7957. Don't forget to set it when you go out and remember to turn it off when you get back home as it is LOUD! The rabbits need feeding once a day and under no circumstances should they be allowed out of their cage. And promise me you'll use the washing machine in the daytime only as it's noisy and the neighbours complain otherwise.

That's about it! Help yourself to anything in the fridge or the cupboards. See you on Saturday morning then to hand over the keys.

Love, Susan

THE SKIER

Afel was a very small boy when he first saw snow. He saw it in an album which had lots of pictures of children playing in big white fields. He asked his mother, “What are those?”, She laughed and said, “That’s snow!” She tried to explain to him what snow was, but Afel didn’t really understand. Sometimes there was rain where he lived, but not very much. But it didn’t matter. Afel was already in love with snow.

Then, when Afel was twelve years old, the next thing happened. One day he was watching the TV at his uncle’s house. His uncle had a big TV, with all the satellite channels. Afel was watching one of the satellite channels and a programme came on. It was full of snow. And not only snow – there were people flying across the snow. They wore brightly coloured clothes. And on their feet, they had things that looked like strange shoes.

“What are those?” he asked his uncle excitedly.

“Skis,” replied his uncle. “And those people are called skiers.” Afel was in love. At that moment, he decided. He wanted to be a skier.

He asked his uncle what the programme was.

“The Winter Olympics,” said his uncle. “It’s like the normal Olympics, but for sports where you need snow – skiing, ice skating, bobsleigh, those sorts of things. They have it every four years.” Afel found out that the next Winter Olympics was in Vancouver in Canada, in 2010.

“Perfect,” he thought. “Enough time for me to become a brilliant skier. Then I’ll go to the Winter Olympics, and win the gold medal for skiing.”

“But there’s no snow here!” people told him. “Where are you going to ski?”

Afel didn’t care. He made himself a pair of skis from two pieces of wood. He tied them to his feet and practised skiing holding two sticks in his hands. At first, he couldn’t move, but he practised and practised until he could move quite quickly across the sand or the earth where he lived. He tried to fly down the hills like the people on TV, but he couldn’t. He could only move slowly.

“Never mind,” he thought. “It’s a start...”

ROBOT TEACHERS

If you were think of the jobs robots could never do, you would probably put doctors and teachers at the top of the list. It's easy to imagine robot cleaners and factory workers but could there be a place for robots in education? Yet, British education expert Anthony Seldon thinks so. And he even has a date for the robot takeover of the classroom: 2027. 7.1. _____ Then they will adapt the knowledge taught to each student. It's not a popular opinion but one thing is certain. A robot teacher is better than no teacher at all. 7.2. _____ That problem could be partly solved by robots because they can teach anywhere and won't get stressed, or tired, or move somewhere for an easier, higher-paid job. Those negative aspects of teaching are something everyone agrees on. Teachers all over the world are leaving because it is a difficult job and they feel overworked. But, perhaps the question is not "Will robots replace teachers?" but "How can robots help teachers?" 7.3. _____ If robots could cut the time teachers spend doing that, teachers would have more time and energy for the parts of the job humans do best.

adapted from <https://learnenglish.britishcouncil.org>

- A. He believes that robots won't be able to teach students in the same way real human teachers do.
- B. Teachers waste a lot of time doing non-teaching work, including more than 11 hours a week of marking homework.
- C. He thinks robot teachers will be like assistants and intelligent robots will read students' faces and movements.
- D. So, instead of going to school every day children can simply stay at their homes and be taught by robots.
- E. In some parts of the world, there aren't enough teachers and 9–16% of children under the age of 14 don't go to school.
