

COMPETITION TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. The Terms and Conditions below must be read carefully. Participants are deemed to have accepted and agreed to be bound by these Terms and Conditions upon entering the competition.

2. The competition (the “Promotion”) is open to all UK residents (excluding Northern Ireland) between the age of 11 and 14, Any employees or agents of either DMGT Ltd, the LEGO Group or any company connected with the production or distribution of this Promotion, as well as any members of their immediate family (e.g., spouse, parent, child, sibling) and persons living in the same household as them, whether or not related, are not eligible to enter this Promotion.

3. All entries must be submitted by the entrant’s parent, teacher or guardian, who must be 18 years or over at the time of entry. Proof of eligibility must be provided upon request. By entering the Promotion, you are deemed to accept and be bound by these terms and conditions.

3. There are two competition categories, one Schools’ Category for schools and one Public Category for the general public

4. Schools entries can be made by teams comprised of up to three entrants (each a “Creator”). Public entries are for a single Creator only, but should they be selected as a finalist can be joined by up to two team mates, who must also be aged between 11 and 14, to participate in the build at New Scientist Live on the date defined in section 7

5.. The competition is to create a Design to address the challenges faced by gibbons to survive in their fragmented forests (as detailed on the main competition page) (Creation).

6. To enter the public category, the Creator’s parent or guardian (You) must complete the competition submission form, stating Your name, email address, the name of Your child/dependant and a description of the Creation and upload a photo of the Creation at build-the-change.newscientist.com. To enter the Schools category, the Creator’s teacher (You) must complete the competition submission form, stating Your name, email address, school name, the name of the children in the team, a description of the Creation and upload a photo of the Creation at build-the-change.newscientist.com. Teachers must also confirm that they have the necessary parental permissions from all the team’s parents/guardians to enter the competition. You must also acknowledge that such entry is subject to the terms of our privacy policy and terms of use. Written confirmation of permission and proof of parental/guardianship responsibility may be required from a parent/guardian/teacher before a finalist can be declared.

7. The Creator may only enter each competition category once during the Entry Period. If more than one entry per Creator is received during the Entry Period, only the first entry will be valid, and later entries will be disqualified. The competition will open at midnight on Monday 3 June 2024 (BST) and close at 11:59pm on Sunday 30 June 2024 (BST) (the “Entry Period”). Entries received after the Entry Period will not be entered into the competition.

8. There will be FIVE Finalists selected from each category. One overall winner for each category will be selected from the Finalists based upon their LEGO® model constructed at New Scientist Live. The Finalists will be notified by the Prize Administrator by email by the 12 July 2024. Reasonable efforts will be made to contact the provisional Finalists, but it is each Finalist's responsibility to monitor their email address (including spam folder) for receipt of the notification. Failure by the Finalists to accept the prize in the manner specified within five (5) working days of the Prize Administrator's email will make any claim invalid and the Prize Administrator, the LEGO Group and the independent judges will then select another replacement Finalist using the same selection process.

9. The Finalist teams will be required to attend New Scientist Live (entry subject to the New Scientist Live ticket terms found here) to work with LEGO® Master Builders on the LEGO® stand to create a model of their Design during the following defined Build Times:

- Public Category – 10:00am to 3:30pm on Saturday 12 October
- Schools' Category – 10:00am to 3:30pm on Sunday 13 October

10. By attending New Scientist Live, the Finalist teams and their guests consent to their photographic and video image to be captured by New Scientist Limited for promotional and advertising purposes. Further, the Finalist teams and each of their guests acknowledge and accept that the capturing and use of such images does not in any way infringe or impair their privacy or right to privacy.

11. Finalists will additionally be invited to the Imperial Design, Make and Test event in June 2024 to see prototypes, inspired by the Creations, that have been created by the 2nd Year Imperial Mechanical Engineering Students.

12. The Highly Commended, Finalists and Winner from each category will receive:

- Public Category prizes:
  - Each Highly Commended team member will receive:
    - 1 x LEGO® Set (valued at approximately £45)
  - Each Finalist team member will receive:
    - a family weekend ticket for New Scientist Live 2024 (entry subject to the New Scientist Live ticket terms found here)
    - 1x LEGO® Set (valued at approximately £215)
  - Each overall winner team member will receive:
    - A year's subscription to New Scientist
    - 2 x additional LEGO® sets (valued at £70 and £45)
- Schools' Category prizes:
  - Each Highly Commended team member will receive:
    - 1 x LEGO® Set (valued at approximately £45)
  - Each Finalist team member will receive:
    - a family weekend ticket for New Scientist Live 2024 (entry subject to the New Scientist Live ticket terms found here)
    - 1x LEGO® Set (valued at approximately £215)

- Each overall winner team member will receive:
  - A year's subscription to New Scientist
  - 2 x additional LEGO® sets (valued at £70 and £45)
- Each finalists' school will receive:
  - 30 Student tickets and 4 teachers tickets for New Scientist Live School's Day on Monday 14th October 2024 (entry subject to the New Scientist Schools' Day ticket terms found here)
- The overall winner's school will receive
  - School subscription to New Scientist
  - 1x LEGO® "Build the Change kit box" (valued at £800)

13. For the avoidance of doubt, the prizes do not include travel/transportation, accommodation, food, beverages, souvenirs, gratuities, car parking charges, or any other costs of a personal nature (including spending money) that are not explicitly set out in these Terms and Conditions and neither the LEGO Group or The Prize Administrator nor any provider of any part of the prizes will be responsible for any such costs.

14. Content Restrictions:

- Entries must not contain material that violates or infringes another's rights, including without limitation, privacy, publicity or intellectual property rights infringement;
- Entries must not disparage New Scientist, DMGT, the LEGO Group or any other person or party affiliated with the competition;
- Entries must show only the entrant's creation, which must represent their idea which is or could be built from LEGO® bricks and other LEGO® elements. Entries must not show any identifiable feature of any person, or any product, trademark, or copyrighted property of any other person or business entity.
- Entries must not contain material that is inappropriate, indecent, obscene, hateful, tortious, defamatory, slanderous or libelous;
- Entries must not contain material that promotes bigotry, racism, hatred or harm against any group or individual or promotes discrimination based on race, gender, religion, nationality, disability, sexual orientation or age; and
- Entries must not contain material that is unlawful, in violation of or contrary to the laws or regulations in any country, state or province where the Submission is created.

15. In the event that an entry violates any of the above Content Restrictions, New Scientist and/ or the LEGO Group may (at their sole discretion) crop or edit such entry to render it compliant and/ or exclude such entry from the competition.

16. The Finalists will be selected by a panel of representatives from the LEGO Group, New Scientist and independent judges from Imperial College London. The category winners will be selected by a panel of representatives from the LEGO Group and New Scientist and independent judges (the Judging Panel). The Judging Panel is looking for the most creative entry as assessed based on how imaginative, unique and effective the idea is, what positive impact is created and how aligned it is to the challenge brief. If your entry is selected as a Finalist, we may contact you to ask you for more information about your Creation. In such case, you will be contacted by email to the email address provided at the point of submission of that entry. If you do not respond within ten (10) working days your entry may not be considered by the Judging Panel as part of the final selection. Finalists will all be notified by 12 July 2024. One overall winner for each category will be selected by the Judging Panel from the finalists based upon their LEGO® models constructed at New Scientist Live.

17. Each Overall Category Winner will be notified in person at New Scientist Live on 12th October 2024 (Public Category) and 13th October 2024 (Schools' Category)

18. New Scientist reserves the right to use the Team Member's name, and School's name for each Highly Commended, Finalist and Winning entry and any and all submission content (including answers provided in the competition submission form) for promotional, marketing and publicity purposes. You hereby agree that all intellectual property and moral rights of the child on whose behalf you are entering have been assigned or licensed to you and/or waived and grant New Scientist and the LEGO Group a non-revocable, worldwide, royalty-free licence to use, modify and reproduce all such intellectual property rights vesting in the Creation and your entry for the aforementioned purposes.

19. If a Winner wishes that the prize be provided to another person or organisation (instead of their nominated school) as a gift, express prior consent must be obtained from New Scientist and the LEGO Group. A Winner is prohibited from offering the prize for onward sale or exchange and from making any income or profit from the prize.

20. New Scientist reserves the right to hold void, cancel, suspend, or amend the competition where it becomes necessary to do so, including for any reasons outside of its control. New Scientist reserves the right to disqualify an entry or entrant, or cancel the provision of the prize should a participant breach these Terms and Conditions or behave in an unlawful, fraudulent, inappropriate or offensive manner.

21. The prizes are as stated. New Scientist or the LEGO Group reserve the right to substitute an alternative prize of similar value. No cash alternative will be offered.

22. The prize is subject to change. Descriptions and depictions of the prize are provided without a warranty of any kind. In no event shall New Scientist, the LEGO Group or any prize provider be liable for any claim demand or damages caused to an entrant (or any recipient or user of the prize) by reason of a description of the prize being inaccurate, incomplete, or for the prize being otherwise in any way different to the entrant's expectations. To the extent permitted by law, New Scientist excludes all warranties and representations (whether express or implied) and will not under any circumstances be liable to compensate a participant or the winner (or any recipient or user of the prize) or accept any liability for any loss or damage occurring as a result of entering the competition or taking up a prize (other than for death or personal injury caused by New Scientist's negligence), including all indirect or consequential losses.

23. New Scientist, the LEGO Group and their sub-contractors, subsidiaries and/or agencies cannot accept any responsibility whatsoever for any technical failure or malfunction or any other problem with any website, delivery service, system, server, provider or otherwise which may result in any entry not being properly received.

24. This competition is operated by New Scientist Limited and the LEGO Group. The prizes are provided by New Scientist Limited and LEGO Company Ltd.

25. Your information (email address, your name and surname and the name of the Creator's school) will be collected by New Scientist and will only be used to communicate with you regarding the competition. If you are selected as Highly Commended, Finalist or Overall Category Winner, New Scientist will (1) contact you to let you know you have been selected and to administer the prize, and (2) use your surname and town or county of residence to announce the winner of the competition and/ or to respond to requests for details of who won the competition. If you object to any or all of your surname, county and winning entry being published or made available, please contact New Scientist by emailing live@newscientist.com. For the avoidance of doubt, New Scientist must still provide the information and winning entry to the Advertising Standards Authority on their request.

26. To find out more about how we will use your information, including your rights in relation to it, how to contact us about it and how we use your email address or phone number if you sign up to our newsletters, please see our privacy policy.

27. These Terms and Conditions will be governed by the laws of England and Wales and entrants to the competition submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of England and Wales.

28. This competition is promoted by LEGO COMPANY LIMITED. Registered Address: Capital Point, 33 Bath Road, Slough, Berkshire, SL1 3UF. Registered Company No. 00368236. The Prize Administrator is New Scientist Limited, Northcliffe House, 2 Derry Street, London, W8 5TT, company number 10644366.