The Rambam's drawing of the Menorah,
The upside down cups and branches- straight,
Are exact in style and teach us lessons,
To the Menorah, we can all relate.

Just like the Mikdash's windows,
Spreading light outside was its role,
The upside-down cups on the Menorah,
Achieved the same goal.

When doing our own Avodah,
There's a Seder, with calculations,
Wake up, Modeh Ani, continue that way,
There's room for limitations.

But when it comes to influencing,
The opposite is true,
Like an upside-down cup, we should pour all we have,
To quench a thirsty Jew.

We might need to go out of order,
Or beyond our comfort zone,
With breadth, strength, and energy,
That we might not know we own,

Like a cup flipped upside down,
We should let our kochos pour,
To inspire other Yidden
And help them grow more and more!
