David did a terrific job! He solved some difficult problems, suggested ideas that I had not considered myself, and was great at communicating. The app has been approved by Apple :)

Vincent Stark from Xiveti Inc.

I would highly recommend David to anyone looking to develop an iOS app! The communication was very timely and clear, the adherence to deadlines was superb, and the overall experience working with David was very positive. Also, I should mention the quality of his code - he cares about what he creates, and his code is readable and clean.

David is a talented iOS developer, he helped me build a chat app for the past 3 months. He architected the app very well and done a very good job of the project. I will definitely work with him again.
