Projects

DigitalCondo Agent
May 2018 - Current 2018

The Condo industry is thriving in the digital era. Every day, new properties and new tenants emerge along with new technology and new market needs. Communication and transparency are thus becoming a major challenge for the property managers and the residents in the condo community. Do owners living abroad know all the details of their properties? Don't they need detailed reports of their investments? Do condo residents know what is going on in their building? Keeping people in the loop and updating them about the nuances of life in the condo is the answer to all these questions. This application is going to cover all this.
