

SOLANA: The Rocket just got Launched

-By Medhya Singh

Most of the people are wondering what is the hype all about Solana I have been bullish on Solana since it was $35 and later in the article, I will tell you why Solana is a winning investment and reasons why it is here to stay.

So, let's understand what is Solana about, Solana is a blockchain platform that is specifically designed to host decentralized applications wait what that is what Ethereum does too but how is it different well Solana is an open source project and works on the proof of stake blockchain more environmental friendly than bitcoin and the ability of Solana to deliver faster transactions with really low transaction fees is why so many investors are inclined towards it. Solana is considered one of the best programmable blockchain which is currently the fastest programmable blockchains.

In the past months where the other cryptocurrencies were struggling to balance at their major support prices Solana soared from $60 to a massive rally of $216 making an all-time high drawing attention of many investors towards its potential.

Solana also rallied a double-digit rally of 26% in the past three days being one of the top gainers.

Currently Solana is being rejected a few dollars away from its all-time high $216 acting as a major resistance, Solana has a major support at $140 if Solana successfully breaks the resistance, it will fly until $330 and then the later target of $400 and the year-end target of $875 in the super bull cycle (Please note this is no financial advice invest at your own risk).

Financial Independence for Women: The Need of the Hour

-By Neha Jain

Women's Financial Independence' is a powerful phrase. What does it mean to be financially independent? The ability to earn money for herself and her family. The ability to purchase items for herself and her loved ones. The ability to not rely on the man for financial support. The ability to contribute to the country's GDP. The ability to help others. After you've married, you'll have the power to look after your parents. The ability to #ShareTheLoad in family management. The ability to guarantee her future. Actually, it's more than that, as well as everything else.

I'd like to discuss Indian women and what prevents them from working to support themselves and their family. The first and most important barrier is education; according to Census 2011, India's literacy rate was 74.04 percent in 2011. Male literacy is 82.14 percent, whereas female literacy is only 65.46 percent. Another intriguing finding from the Census data is that over a 20-year period ending in 2011-12, educated women's engagement in the workforce has declined from 47 percent to only 37 percent.

All dreams and ambitions fade away once marriage and children occur. However, marriage is a voluntary act, and when reality sets in, the career takes a back seat

The main reasons why women choose to stay at home are :-

- 1)Naive mom and Nuclear family setup
- 2)Unavailability of 'Trustworthy Parenting Partner'
- 3)Minimal support from the partner in doing the household chores
- 4)Minimum motivation from the employer
- 5)Patriarchal pressures and belong to an affluent family

WHY IS WOMEN'S FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE IMPERATIVE NOW?

1) To be respected by the husband and the rest of the family/society

It is about time, ladies, that you stand up for yourself and start keeping your bank balance in this modern day of maintaining standards and show-off, when everyone criticizes you based on your income level. Ladies, name me one male who wouldn't appreciate some more incoming cash and his wife paying some of the monthly bills?!

2) For a secure future

When do you feel confident about your future? When you have enough investments in your name to cover your monthly expenses or when you are solely reliant on one source of income to cover your monthly bills, payments, and children's fees?! The good news is that the risk of relying on a single source of income may be shared when you take care of your future security and that of your loved ones. Make sufficient savings with the second financial inflow and live comfortably.

3) To become self-confident

Money is the most powerful source of self-assurance. It provides you a competitive advantage. In certain ways, it also improves one's way of life.

4) To make a difference

An earning woman firstly makes a difference in her life; And having a working wife relieves financial strain on her husband and can help the entire family become financially self-sufficient. If a woman works, she can contribute to improving the country's overall economic situation. According to studies, Indian women participate in the labour force at a rate of less than half that of men. This is heartbreaking. What are we teaching the women of the future?

5) To live your life on your own terms

Money provides you with the ability to live your life as you like. It's up to you whether you want to save or spend!

6) To become a decision maker

Without money, there is no ability to make judgments. You have money, and you have a say in everything that has to do with money. Your money is not yours; it belongs to your husband. He will file the ITR in his name first, not yours. Do you agree, ladies?

Steal From Yourself

-By Anand

One question I hear a lot is how much do I need to start with in crypto? and so many excuses. I don't have any money to invest in crypto. I have a family to take care and I am already struggling to meet the ends. Crypto is for rich people who has spare money to play with. It is too risky to invest AS I CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE ANY MONEY IN CRYPTO.

Yes, all of you are right BUT....

What you should invest into crypto initially is your time and the learning ....so steal it from yourselves.
Steal the time that you spend on Facebook and instagram and put into crypto education.
Steal the time that you sleep those extra hours, invest that into crypto education.
Steal that 3 hr you spend watching a movie, invest into crypto learning.
Steal that procrastinating time that you chill out and dream off and fool around, invest into crypto.
Steal that chit chat, blah blah time you spend indulging in unproductive and meaning less conversations, gossiping and chating; invest into crypto.

Well; that's your first investment.

OK suddenly now I have time to invest...how about the money??????????

Steal it from yourselves; that extra beautiful pair of shoes that you are planning to buy; invest into bitcoin.

Steal it from yourselves; that extra delicious meal that you might be buying every week which is getting invested into your total cholesterol and carbohydrates; invest into ETH.

Steal it from yourselves; that extra money you are spending on too many movies, amazon prime subscription, Netflix and all those unnecessary subscriptions; invest into BNB.

Steal it from yourselves; that extra money that you spend every month on things that I can't even write here due to various reasons.... lol..... invest that into ADA or DOT or Doge...whichever crypto you are married to, give your time and money to them.....

Steal it from yourselves, stay poor in your bank account, build your crypto portfolio....

No one needs to know that..... but always find that quality time to spend for your family and to spend for your loved ones.... stay poor and build your digital wealth.

After 5-10 years, when you emerge as a cryptonized individual with full of knowledge and wealth You won't be blaming yourselves for stealing it from yourselves
