Kevin uses his experience in patent, antitrust law and legal ethics to solve problems and assist clients in investigating and resolving disputes. Kevin has published articles on ethics and uses this to help clients navigate complex disputes.

A lifetime student, Kevin obtained a Master of Arts in History before attending SMU Dedman School of Law. He now spends his free time studying Texas history, history of the American West, and modern American economic history. When he puts the books down, he can be found cheering on OSU's baseball team, the Texas Rangers, or channeling his creative skills in landscape photography.
