Troy is a passionate litigator and compliance officer with strong attention to detail. Prior to joining Stanton LLP, Troy represented clients before federal agencies in administrative matters and federal litigation.

Troy graduated cum laude from the University of Southern California with a degree in Political Science. Before attending law school, he obtained a certificate from Georgetown University in Law, Legislation and Politics while working at the U.S. Congress.

Troy earned his Juris Doctorate from Southern Methodist University. While in law school, Troy clerked for the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission where he provided support for a nationwide class action lawsuit. He also helped lead the SMU's Federal Tax Payers Clinic as a Chief Counsel where he vigorously defended his clients and successfully negotiated settlements with the IRS and Department of Justice.

Troy grew up in Orange County, California where he attended Santa Margarita Catholic High School and he continues to be an active member of his church. He is a connoisseur of craft beer and when he is not traveling you can find Troy at the golf course or tennis court.
