

Contents

Translator's introduction	ix
Introduction by Sergei Yutkevich: Sorceress of the Editing Table	1
Part I: In Close Up
A Second Birth (1918–1921)
The Spring of the Revolution	19
A Digression (A tribute to my youth):
Moscow Women's Advanced Studies	22
The Way to the Choice of a Profession	34
First Years in the Cinema (1922–1930)
My Film School	63
Dziga Vertov	82
Trip to Berlin in 1929	93
The Beginning of the Renown of Soviet Cinema	103
People and Events
Vladimir Mayakovsky	115
Sergei Eisenstein	133
Vsevolod Vishnevsky	181
Documentary Cinema: Matters and People	218
Meeting M. Gorky and R. Roland	228
Yuri Nikolaevich Tynyanov	230
Ekaterina Vasil'evna Belokur	233
Nata Vachnadze	236
Yasnaya Polyana	244

Part II: Articles and Statements

About Myself	259
The Fabrication of Facts	259
To Work!	260
Before February	261
[From my experience]	262
[We do not reject the element of mastery]	263
The Great Way	264
First Work	265
Lev Tolstoy and the Russia of Nicholas II	267
This work cries out	270
The Newsreel, once again	271
A film about Tolstoy	274
The non-acted film	276
Towards the arrival of sound in the cinema	283
First Impressions	284
Joris Ivens	286
[About Creative Method]	289
About the film Today	290
Not only a great master but an innovator as well	292
What there isn't	294
The theme of my talk	295
I want to make a film about Woman	297
It will be recalled	299
I want to work	300
The deeds and the people of our great days	303
The Metro on the screen	304
Investigating a creative concept	305
[Our path]	306
An Important and Urgent Matter	310
Notes of a director	312
About a contemporary theme	314
Meetings	316
About Soviet Documentary Cinema	317
Sources	321

Part III: Unrealized Projects

Women	328
The City Sleeps	359
A New Turkey is on the Move	363
For the film Native Land	369
A Film Chronicle of the Great Patriotic War	370
Victory	373
Moscow: 800 Years	374
They are 30 years old	376
Oil	376
The Motherland in the Art of the People	379
 Sources	 381
 Appendices
Correspondence	384
Sources and notes by the Russian editor	477
Filmography	480
 “She’s No Dziga Vertov”: An Afterword by Keith Sanborn	 487
 On Esfir Shub: Pioneer of Documentary Filmmaking by Ilana Shub Sharp (Bloomsbury, 2022) by Keith Sanborn	 513