GOD'S PEOPLE ARE THE VINEYARD

By Sr. Sharon McMillan, SNDdeN

This Week in the Church Year begins with the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi, the climax of the Season of Creation, which urges us to join with other Christians, with people of faith, and with all people of good will as we respond to the calls of both Pope Francis and Pope Leo to work together to care for the earth, our common home. On Monday, October 5th, we honor St. Faustina (+1938), known as “the Apostle of Divine Mercy.” Every Friday evening at our Parish, all are invited to pray The Divine Mercy Chaplet. Tuesday we remember Blessed Marie Rose Durocher (+1849), founder of the Holy Names Sisters, one of the congregations of religious women who have served many years in our Diocese. Wednesday the Church invites us to celebrate Mary, our Blessed Mother, under the title of Our Lady of the Rosary. Together we pray: “Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of our death. Amen.”

The Gospel Matthew 21:33 - 43

Consider the thoughts of the tenants in today's Gospel. They knew the responsibilities of tenant farmers, but their obsession led them to kill their landlord's son to seize his inheritance. To create this parable of the vineyard, Jesus drew on the ancient prophecy from Isaiah that we hear in the First Reading. In Isaiah's image, God planted a vineyard, but it produced a poor crop. Isaiah hoped to shock his Jewish listeners into the call for the nation to reform. In Jesus' parable, the vineyard's crop is good, but it is Israel's leaders who are the problem. Their greed results in disaster for anyone who refuses to see the illusions behind their plans. In St. Pope John Paul II's letter on the meaning of discipleship, he writes: “Life according to the Spirit, whose fruit is holiness, requires each of us to follow and imitate Jesus Christ in family or in community, in the hunger and thirst for justice, in the practice of the commandment of love, in service to brothers and sisters, especially the least, the poor and the suffering.” God, the Master of the vineyard, sends his beloved Son to awaken the tenants to the truth that everything belongs to God. But in this parable as well as in Jesus' own life, those in charge kill everyone sent to them, so they ultimately lose everything. In these last chapters of Matthew's Gospel, we see Jesus moving toward his Passion and his final conflict with the religious authorities. But as we hear at the end of this reading, “The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone; by the Lord has this been done, and it is wonderful in our eyes.” Jesus, Cornerstone of our faith, have mercy on us.

First Reading Isaiah 5:1 - 7

As the end of this reading makes clear, Israel is the vineyard of the Lord, and this reading is “the Song of the Lord's Vineyard.” It gives us a rendition of the Lord's classic complaint against an unfaithful people. This song turns out to be something of a parable. What more could God have done for his people? But they did not listen. In spite of all the divine care and effort, the people, God's very own vineyard, have produced only “wild grapes” which are not fit for human use. So we hear in the final lines the pained disappointment of our God whose love is scorned and ignored. The end of the song prepares us for the Gospel: the owner looked for judgment and justice, but found only bloodshed and outcry.

Second Reading Philippians 4:6 - 9

In the Sundays of Ordinary Time, the Second Reading at Mass is always independent of both the Gospel and the First Reading. There is no common theme or direction that fits with those other two readings. For four weeks, the Church offers us sections from St. Paul's Letter to the community of Christians gathered in the city of Philippi. He writes to them from prison. Despite his chains, Paul knows the peace of God, and encourages all of us to present our needs to God “by prayer and petition with thanksgiving.”

St. Francis of Assisi - October 4th

Prayer of St. Francis

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace.

Where there is hatred, let me sow love;

Where there is injury, pardon;

Where there is doubt, faith;

Where there is despair, hope;

Where there is darkness, light;

Where there is sadness, joy.

Oh Divine Master,

grant that I may not so much seek

To be consoled as to console;

To be understood as to understand;

To be loved as to love;

For it is in giving that we receive;

It is in pardoning that we are pardoned;

And it is in dying

that we are born to Eternal Life.

Amen

Where Minds Grow and Spirits Soar

We welcome. We nurture. We serve.
