Report on the "Locked Heads" Event at Vivekanand School of English Studies, VIPS-TC

On April 20, 2023, the Vivekalam Club of Vivekanand School of English Studies, VIPS-TC, organized an event titled "Locked Heads," providing participants with a platform to showcase their cognitive skills.

The event took place in Room 404 at 2 pm, attracting 23 enthusiastic participants and a sizable audience. Dr. Meetu Bhatia Kapur commenced the proceedings with an opening introduction, setting the stage for an engaging intellectual exchange.

Participants were tasked with randomly selecting a chit containing a topic and then given 30 seconds to contemplate it. Subsequently, each participant had one minute to articulate their views and establish connections between the chosen topic and literature. The diverse array of topics, including love, nature, robots, and culture, were eloquently linked to literature by the participants, creating a rich tapestry of interconnected ideas.

The event proved to be truly "locked" as participants not only connected their topics to literature but also found common ground among each other's discussions. Prof. (Dr.) Salonee Priya, the Dean, further motivated the students and provided words of encouragement, emphasizing the intellectual depth displayed during the event.

The competition was fierce, leading the judges to implement a tie-breaker. The final results were as follows: Shagun from the 2nd semester secured Second Runner-Up, Shruti from the 6th semester earned First Runner-Up, and the coveted winner title went to Aashna from the 4th semester.

Following the announcement of the winners, Dr. Anshu Gagal delivered a closing speech at 3:30 pm, underscoring the significance of intellectual discourse and applauding the participants for their outstanding contributions. A photo session with the Dean, faculty coordinators, winners, and student coordinators concluded the event, capturing the memorable moments of "Locked Heads."
