Rangrez 1.0, a Bollywood day organized by Rangeet, the Translation and Adaptation Club of VSES set the stage ablaze with its dazzling array of spirited sub-activities. The event showcased four exhilarating competitions that brought together students from various semesters, each eager to display their creative prowess and passion for the Indian film industry.

The first competition, "Badly Constructed Plots," challenged participants to decipher badly constructed Bollywood movie plots. Teams were formed, and each team received a unique, hilariously twisted plot. The participants engaged in friendly banter and showcased their Bollywood knowledge, attempting to unravel the tangled tales. This competition fostered a lively atmosphere of laughter and camaraderie, highlighting the participants' creativity and their love for the film industry.

In the popular game of "Dumb Charades," participants communicated movie titles and scenes through gestures and actions alone. The room was filled with excitement and anticipation as participants creatively emulated iconic Bollywood moments, engaging the audience in an interactive guessing game. Laughter and applause reverberated throughout the venue as participants showcased their acting skills and the audience joined in the fun. The "Plot Construction" competition tested participants' storytelling abilities. Starting with a given premise, participants had to continue the story, adding twists and turns to captivate the audience. The participants demonstrated their imaginative thinking and narrative skills, weaving captivating tales that kept the audience on the edge of their seats. This competition showcased the participants' ability to think on their feet and engage the audience with their storytelling.

Rangrez, with its thrilling competitions, brought the magic of Bollywood to life at VSES. The event fostered a sense of unity and celebration among the participants, highlighting their creative talents and passion for the Indian film industry. Rangeet's efforts in organizing the event provided students with a platform to showcase their skills, creating cherished memories and strengthening the artistic community within
