Report

Purpose: The workshop aimed to introduce the participants to the creative writing process and encourage them to create their masterpieces.

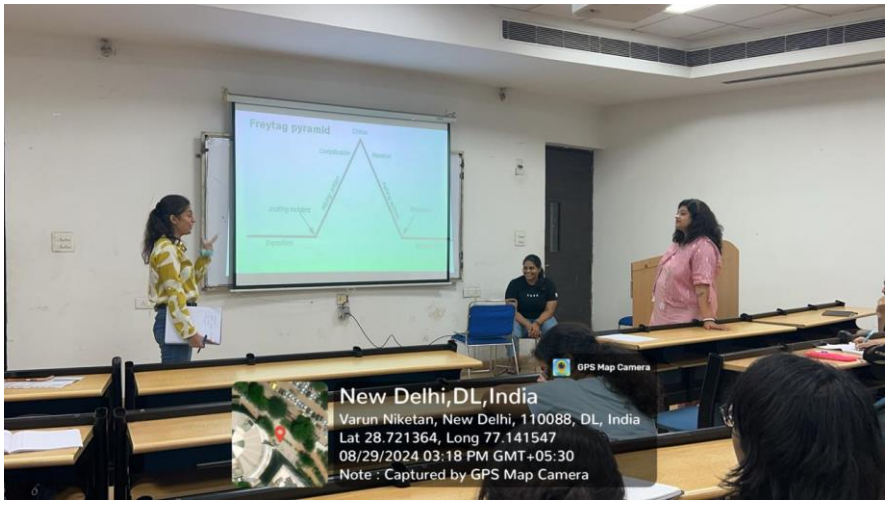

Description of event- Vivekalam, the literary club of Vivekananda Institute of English Studies (VSES) organized a creative writing workshop, "Écriture: From Ideas to Masterpieces held on August 29, 2024. The workshop was led by Dr. Barnali Saha, who introduced the attendees to creative writing. Through a series of exercises, Dr. Saha was able to ignite the writing spirit in the participants and towards the end of the workshop, they were able to come up with stories of their own. The workshop was wrapped up successfully with a promise of a follow-up session that would focus on the process of creative writing.

Outcome of the event- The workshop invited participation from all present in the room. The faculty members were just as invigorated by the session as the students. Écriture inspired in the attendees a creative writing spirit and reassured them that any subject could make an extraordinary story or poem.

Challenges Faced: The workshop, though a resounding success, was not executed without hiccups. Some small issues, such as a slight delay in the commencement and the absence of a participant attendance list arose but were resolved as promptly as possible.

Future Plans: A plan for the future would be to conduct more such workshops to encourage students to write and indulge in creative thoughts more.
