Report of the Event

VSES, the English department of VIPS-TC, organised Le Style Littèraire: A Fashion Ramp Walk, one of the many events at Palimpsest 25 the annual fest of VSES. Students from various departments attended and participated in the event, dressing up as literary characters. The event was attended by our honourable judges, Ms. Vijayta Peters. Placement Officer, Placement Cell VSBS & VSE and Dr. Tuavita, Associate Professor, VSLLS. The Event was coordinated by Dr. Mantu Bhata Kapur, VSES

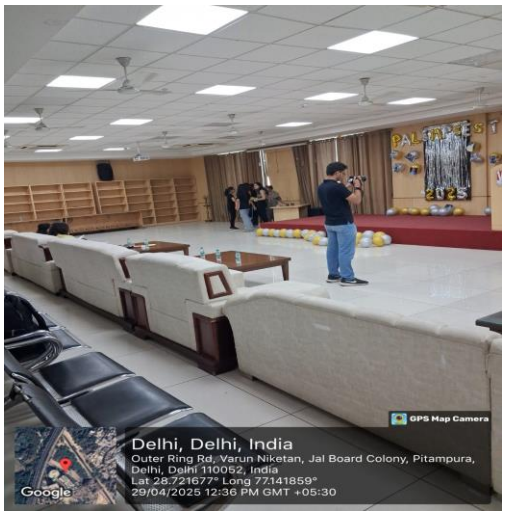

The event consisted of three rounds: Ramp Walk. Imiriduction, and Question Round. There were 10 participants, dressed up as Dorian Gray, Rukmi Devi Arundale. Kya Clark, John Keating and various other characters from the vast worth of literature. The participan presentation, style and their answers The participants were judged based on their creativity, choice of dress in each round. The judges marked all the participants out of 25.

Participants showcased their connection with their character in different in the introduction Some showed it through dancing, some through dialogue me through a depiction

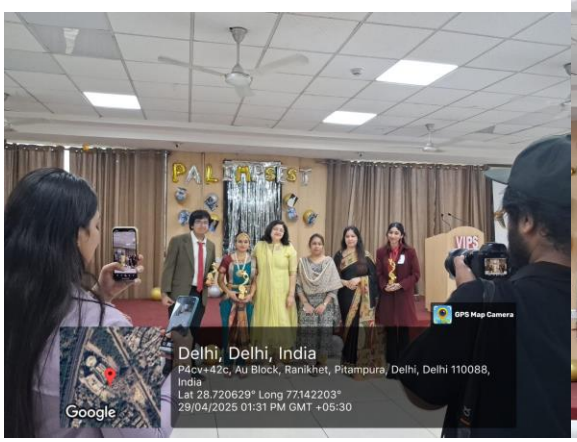

The question round was made for judges to analyze how meaningful their character is. It helped judges understand the reason why the participants resonate with that character.

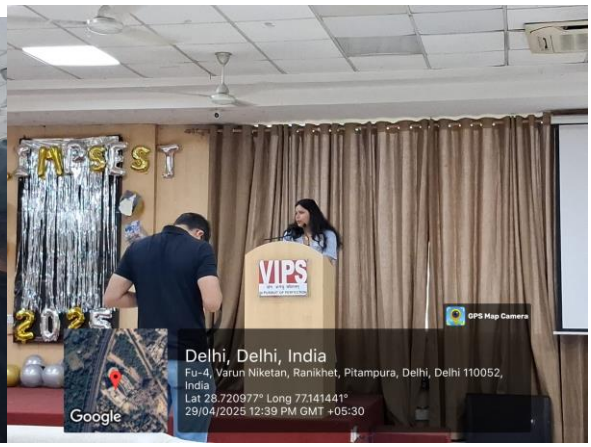

The judges narrowed down their decision to three people. Aryaman Shama from VSET, representing John Keating, was the second runner up. Unnati Gung from VSJMC, representing Dorian Gray, was the first runner up. The winner of Le Style Littèraire was Riddhi Garg from VSES representing Ramim Dev Anundale.
