8. Description: "Mimansa: The Research Club of VSES" organized an engaging event titled "Thinking in Action", aimed at introducing students to the fundamentals of research. The event was conducted on 11 November 2025 in Room 301, A Block, from 2:30 p.m. onwards. The session served to enhance the overall outlook of students towards theoretical understanding of research while encouraging them to think creatively and critically.

   The event commenced with an insightful session led by Dr. Faizan Moquim, who initiated the discussion by collecting students' opinions of what research means to them. Building upon these responses, he guided the students toward a more formal understanding of the term. Dr. Moquim further elaborated on the concept by categorizing it into three matrices—pragmatic, intellectual, and existential —thereby broadening students' existing knowledge on approaches to research.

   Following the discussion, Dr. Suniti Madan and Dr. Bhawna Vij Arora took the session forward by acquainting participants with the core aspects of research. They emphasized the importance of methodology, literature review, and structural coherence as the foundational pillars of a strong research paper. Through their insights, the students gained a clearer understanding of how these elements collectively shape and refine academic inquiry.

   After the introductory talks, the event moved on to its main objective — one-on-one research consultation session. Each student was given the opportunity to meet individually with faculty members to discuss their research ideas, areas of interest, and potential theoretical frameworks. The mentors provided personalized guidance, suggesting relevant methodologies and critical theories to enhance students' projects and help them transform their preliminary ideas into well-documented research. The event concluded on an eventful note, with the faculty coordinators encouraging students to confidently lead their research.

9. Purpose of the event: The purpose of the event was to help students understand what research really means and how to approach it in a structured way. The event aimed to make research feel more accessible by connecting classroom learning with practical guidance. It encouraged students to think critically, explore their interests, and learn how to shape their ideas into proper research topics. Through interactive discussions and one-on-one mentoring, the session also aimed to build confidence and create a supportive space for budding researchers.

10. Expected Impact and Outcomes: Through the event, Mimansa successfully provided a platform for budding researchers to clarify their academic directions, refine their research approaches, and gain mentorship from distinguished faculty members. The event successfully fostered a vibrant exchange of ideas, encouraging students to continue engaging with critical thought and academic dialogue. The event not only deepened the students' understanding of research but also reinforced Mimansa's commitment to nurturing analytical thinking and scholarly excellence.

11. Challenges and Lessons Learned: One of the key challenges faced during the event was to bridge the gap between theory and its application. Many students initially struggled to articulate their abstract ideas into formal research frameworks. However, guided discussions helped them connect theoretical understanding with practical application. The event underscored the value of mentorship in nurturing critical thinking. Direct engagement with experienced faculty proved instrumental in helping students conceptualize and structure their research ideas.

12. Future Plans: Looking ahead, Mimansa aims to further strengthen students' research skills by launching initiatives designed to help them excel in their research papers. Planned activities include structured workshops, mentorship programs, and guidance sessions to refine their research methodologies and academic writing. In addition, the society aims to conduct a "Best Paper Award" allowing the students to come forward and present their ideas, encouraging their engagement with research skills. These competitions will serve as a platform for students to showcase their research, engage with peers, and prepare for academic endeavours in the long run
