13. Report of the Event: Vivekalam, the Literary Society of VSES organized its first event of the semester, “THE LITERARY ODYSSEY,” a lively and spontaneous literary quiz that celebrated literary flair, interpretation, and wit. The event was held on 17 September 2026 in the GDPI Room, Block A, from 2:00 p.m. onwards, and witnessed enthusiastic participation from students. The literary quiz conducted on Kahoot, combined academic precision and digital innovation to celebrate an emerging realm of creativity, literature, and artificial intelligence. The event brought together participants from different academic fields to compete in a rapid-fire quiz competition, which they performed with enthusiastic spirit. Participants used different segments to identify authors and books while completing famous opening lines, to guess answers to popular culture, opening of famous sentences, and famous villains, amongst others. The live leaderboard, timed responses, and instant scoring system created a fast-paced yet transparent atmosphere, ensuring fairness while sustaining excitement. The platform enabled seamless coordination, accurate evaluation, and effective time management, transforming the quiz into a structured yet spirited contest of literary awareness.

    In an era where Artificial Intelligence is viewed with the perspective of shortcut, the event consciously combined technology as an assistant instead of academic exploitation. The digital format of the quiz enabled a higher level of enthusiastic participation, which developed rapid assessment skills while maintaining full visibility of assessment results. The quiz demonstrated that literary works and technological advancements can coexist simultaneously, because innovation improves academics both intellectually and digitally.

    The event was graced by the Dean of VSES, whose glorious presence added warmth and inspiration to the occasion. After the felicitation of winners, the faculty coordinators, along with the faculty members from the department, shared thoughtful observations on the participants’ performances, appreciating their enthusiasm, spontaneous interpretation, and academic flair. The event concluded with a heartfelt thank you note, extending gratitude to all the participants and attendees, and congratulating the winners.

14. Expected Impact and Outcomes: The event successfully fostered quick thinking, literary expression, and spontaneity among participants. It encouraged students to think beyond the obvious, interpret questions with depth, and answer the rounds within a limited time. The event not only enhanced participants' quick wit, but also enhanced their spirit for academic flair.

15. Challenges and Lessons Learned: In the course of the event, one of the challenges faced was to ensure that participation was equitable across the two methods of participation available, i.e., individually or in partnership. Since participants chose the method most suitable for themselves, participation was not evenly distributed between the two sets of students. However, the flexibility was maintained to cater to the participants' choice and stimulate greater participation in the event, allowing the event to be inclusive.

16. Future Plans: Building on the success of "THE LITERARY ODYSSEY," Club Vivekalam plans to organize more interactive literary events that blend creativity with critical thought, such as themed open mics, debate competitions, skit performances, literary games, and creative writing workshops, amongst others.
