+

Doctor Faustus (1967), a Richard Burton film was shown to the students pertaining to the paper,English Drama-1 in the Auditorium on 24 August 2018 from 1:30 pm to 3:15 pm. This initiative by the department was taken to expand the understanding of the students and give a third dimension to the classroom teaching. The film helped the students to comprehend their text better. Discussion post film reflected on the magnified perspective of the students. They understood the nuanced differences in the approach of different mediums. They also learnt how a play when adapted to film creates concrete images and text when read gives the reader space to take creative leaps.

Students were able to relate to the text more after watching the film.Discussion, followed by the film allowed the students to share their inquisitive insights whichadded to the interpretation of the play. Mr. Amarnath and Ms. Avani elaborately discussed about the play and the character of Faustus and Mephistopheles and the creative eye of the director in the portrayal of the good angel and bad angel. The collective involvement of students and teachers into the film gave a critical overview with original interpretations